

WESTERLY'S NEW COUNCIL MEETS

Complaint of Inheritance of Bills From the Last Council—Club Licenses Granted for Bradford and Watch Hill Golf Club—No Appointment of Permanent Highway Commissioner—Thirteen Arrests and Two Raids During June.

The Westerly town councilmen were in session four hours Monday. This included a secret convocation of one and one-half hours. Every member of the council was present from start to finish, as was also the clerk and town solicitor.

Edward Gavitt, town warden, reported considerable dead wood in some of the street trees that required attention, as they were a menace to public safety, and there were trees in Spruce and Spring streets, on private property, the lower branches of which should be trimmed. He had done considerable work of that kind in the past, without recompense, but believed he was entitled to pay for his service in the future. At the annual financial town meeting he had asked for an appropriation of $200, but was informed that the town council could provide for such expense, without special appropriation, from the miscellaneous fund.

On motion of Councilman Haswell, the town warden was authorized to remove dead wood and trim trees at an expense not in excess of $100. Councilman Flynn added that if that sum was not sufficient, more money could be appropriated for the completion of the work.

The council selected jurors to serve for the ensuing year as follows: Charles H. Moon, Edwin H. Vane, Frederick R. Cottrell, Everett Coon, Joseph H. Doney, Fred H. Keayson, Andrew Fisher, William B. Steadman, George E. Gavitt, George F. Champlin, R. Covert Burdick, William H. Burdick, Antonio M. Starks, Richard J. Butler, Allan Sawyers, grand jurors.

Fred N. Burdick, Charles E. Coon, Edward Arnold, Charles E. Coon, William Miller, Eddie P. Ennis, Frank Collins, Thomas J. Welch, Henry T. Brummer, Frank H. Cabane, Sidney Chapman, Joseph E. Baga, George W. Timbary, William R. Robinson, Edward Arnold, Charles E. Coon, Charles J. Cook, Ella Monti, Abraham Dobowitz, James S. Segar, Jarvis H. Segar, George A. Pierce, John H. Vane, Herbert T. Kenyon, Robert Duff, Edward H. Buffum, Daniel J. O'Connell, Frank Coon, George E. Gavitt, Antonio M. Starks, Richard J. Butler, Charles B. Cottrell, M. Clarence L. Clark, Abraham P. Danson, Joseph Recchia, petit jurors.

The new highway committee reported inheritance of a mass of bills aggregating $5500 from the retiring committee. At the June meeting the old committee reported that there were no highway bills for May, but that they were included in the batch presented, and some were dated back to January last.

Councilman Haswell said that the present committee had no knowledge of these bills, but presumed they were all right and ought to be paid. There was one bill of $100 for repairs to a bridge that had been discarded as unfit for use. He said the work had been done and he knew of no reason why the bill was not paid before.

Councilman Thomas said that the retiring highway committee had purchased oil for the streets at a higher price than had been paid for the same, and that the old committee had expended a large share of the appropriation for the same. He said he proposed to be expended by the new committee, and that the retiring committee had been handling the money in such a manner.

Councilman Robinson said it was not customary for the retiring committee to inherit bills from the retiring committee. Councilman Thomas said it was not customary, and that no appropriation was available until passed upon by the new council.

Councilman Haswell said it was well for the people to know just how the present highway committee was handicapped. He said he had looked at the bills presented were just bills and should be paid.

Councilman Flynn said the former highway committee turned over no books of accounts or records to the new committee, and claimed the committee had no books that belonged to the town. The present committee will have books of accounts to turn over to the succeeding committee.

On motion of Mr. Haswell the bills were voted paid.

President Caffrey stated that he had a request for the use of the town hall for a celebration by the Westerly lodge last September and asked for the action of the council. Councilman Thomas said he held no objection against the Westerly lodge, or any other organization, but believed in being cautious as to the indiscriminate use of the town hall. He said that the citizens in financial town meeting assembled had voted the free use of the hall to the local post of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Westerly Board of Trade, and he believed placing the limit of use of the town hall to these organizations. He made motion that the present council do not permit the use of the town hall by any organization, except the two specified, for any purpose. The motion prevailed.

A communication was received from the Watch Hill Improvement society expressing willingness to co-operate with the Westerly town council in the Watch Hill fire district and the trolley company for the establishment of public toilets at Watch Hill. Councilman Thomas and Haswell explained that the toilet houses were on the land of the Larkin for many years, free of charge, and as the land was required for another purpose, notice was given that the houses be removed. The committee made a special effort to get another location, and no offer to co-operate came from the Watch Hill Improvement society, or anybody else at Watch Hill, so the buildings were taken away and disposed of at a sacrifice. Now it would seem to be but proper that toilet service be supplied by the Watch Hill Improvement society.

Councilman Robinson was of the opinion that it was up to the town of Westerly to provide toilets at Watch Hill. Councilman Thomas replied that the Watch Hill Improvement society wanted to get rid of the buildings, forced the town to dispose of them, and now the Improvement society will not furnish a location the town should furnish in public highways as is done in some cities.

Councilman Thomas, Flynn and Robinson were appointed a committee, with power to act, in relation to re-establishment of public toilets at Watch Hill.

The Bradford Social club renewed application for a club liquor license, which was twice rejected by the town council a month ago. It was explained that the many workmen employed at the Bradford Dyeing and finishing company required the club privileges, as they were practically barred from the town by the public highways when there is special train service. The men were compelled to remain in Bradford and build a bar, and several from a glass of beer in connection with their club recreation. The club included the workmen and several officers of the dyeing association. It was voted to grant the club license. It was also voted to grant a club license to the Misquamicut Golf club.

The liquor license of John Gatto at Bradford was transferred to Geravasi. David Shure was granted a pool license for Price block at Watch Hill. Other licenses were granted as follows: Theophilus H. Chase, victualer, Watch Hill; Henry C. Wood, pool, Bay street, Watch Hill; Thomas Thebeau, victualer, Broad street and Union street, subject to approval of chief of police; John Donohue, victualer, Price block, Watch Hill; Rose Collins, tavern, Pleasant View; Charles W. Johnson, victualer, Pleasant View; John H. Johnson, victualer, Plimpton house, Watch Hill; Frank M. Spooner, victualer, Pleasant View; George W. Buffum, victualer, Watch Hill.

Everett A. Kingsley was reappointed coroner for the town of Westerly for the ensuing year. The bills of the retiring committee, amounting to $291.98, were approved for payment, as were bills for expenses of the town for the June term. It was voted to pay Edward Gavitt the sum of $157, for spraying 187 trees, to be paid from the appropriation of $200. Michael O'Brien, who recently built a house on the extension of Spruce street, complained of damage to his property by surface water. The defendant was assigned for trial Sept. 25.

There was a large attendance of relatives and friends at the funeral service of Thomas E. Brown, held Sunday in Christ Episcopal church, the rector, Rev. William F. Williams, officiating. Burial was at Riverside cemetery. The deceased was the son of Fred L. Pierce, bookkeeper at the Smith Garage works, and the wife, Mrs. E. Brown, who resided in Dorchester, Mass. He died Wednesday at the Boston City hospital.

Howard, regatta chairman; Charles P. Cottrell, Samuel G. Dunham, directors.

Mending an Umbrella.

Take a small piece of black stitching paste and soak it until it is quite soft; place it carefully under the handle and let it dry. This is better than darning, as it does not show, and it is without stitching.

John Smithers, secretary to Congressman Peter Colet Gerry, has returned to Washington from Rhode Island, where he has been working on registration, and he told a Washington correspondent that he was pleased with the political situation in the district represented by Mr. Gerry, which includes Westerly. Mr. Gerry has a fight on his hands over the postmaster's term at Westerly, where the term of Postmaster Charles J. Butler expires June 23. There are several candidates who are making the district with their claims and emotions. Among them are Andrew F. Bell, George H. Bray, John Allen and Horace Swan. Postmaster Butler seeks reappointment, but being considered bribe, the prospects are not considered bright. It is said that Mr. Gerry's mind is open on the democratic aspirants for the place, but he is expected to submit a recommendation for appointment before long.

While the excitement over the Woodcock fight has not died out, it would not surprise Washington if another good federal job, the United States attorney's office in Rhode Island, were to become available this fall. This will become available to report by the resignation of George Stinson from the district attorneyship in order to run for congress against Mr. Gerry. Several names have been mentioned in connection with the republican congressional nomination in the Gerry district, among them being Stinson, David J. White, former collector of Customs, George W. Gardner, and ex-Mayor

Thrifty Chinese Farmers.

While our farmers throw broadcast handfuls of grain on the harrowed earth, offering rich pasturage to pillaging birds and rodents, the Chinese, after throwing the earth with his wooden plowshare, without turning it, crumbles each lump in his hands till it is like fine powder. This done, at planting time he walks slowly down each furrow, carrying a grain drill, which is a marvel of ingenious simplicity.
